

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A cooling apparatus for use with an optical element having a concave part includes a cooling
5 mechanism, located in the concave part of the optical element, for cooling the optical element through radiation in a non-contact manner.